György you asked me about what comes first to my mind when thinking of Eric van Cutsem

“His special friendly and supportive kind of interaction with the enrolled experts was very helpful to develop and build up the current international network for the management, treatment and guidelines, and international cooperation in this field of GI-Cancer, and very relevant for the development of new standard treatments and intergroup cooperation in this field in the european countries and also in hungary, where he was very early actively involved in the activities of the Hungarian Society of Clinical Oncology.

I very much support the election of Prof. Eric van Cutsem as Honorary Member of the Hungarian Society of Clinical Society.

Hans Joachim Schmoll

György you asked me about what comes first to my mind when thinking of Eric van Cutsem

Eric is an outstanding clinical scientist and in my view the most productive European researcher in the field of gastrointestinal cancer. His base has been the University Hospital of Leuven, where he started in 1989 and stayed for 35 years. This time period is remarkable, because in the late eighties systemic treatment of GI cancers was only beginning and overall results were poor. Eric was lucky to live and work in an era where major advances were made and he was a facilitator and a major contributor.

Dear Eric, I welcome you as an Honorary Member of the Hungarian Society of Clinical Oncology.

György you asked me about what comes first to my mind when thinking of Eric van Cutsem

Prof Eric van Cutsem has made a remarkable, career long contribution to the treatment of colorectal cancer. He has been at the forefront of new drug development for two decades and established one of the most important conferences on GI cancer in Barcelona.

He is a deserved recipient of Honorary Membership of your Society, whose members are close to my heart.”

David Kerr

György you asked me about what comes first to my mind when thinking of Eric van Cutsem

I would simply say that to me Eric is probably the most influent European GI oncologist of his generation.

Karim Fizazi

One of the world's foremost authorities on gastrointestinal cancers.

We worked together at the EORTC, where he infected everyone with his knowledge and enthusiasm.

We are proud in Poland to have him as a doctor honoris causa of the Medical University of Warsaw.

Jacek Jasem
